

Effective Teaching and Learning

CONFERENCE 2008

TRANSITIONS IN: TRANSITIONS OUT

A Conference for University Teachers

30 and 31 October 2008

Hosted by Queensland University of Technology

In association with

YOU ARE INVITED TO PARTICIPATE IN THE

Effective Teaching and Learning Conference

30 and 31 October 2008

2008 Conference theme: Transitions In: Transitions Out

Academic staff are invited to engage colleagues with the policies, procedures and practices related to 'transitions into' university and 'transitions out' into professional practice (encompassing the academic professional practice of research) including:

- Enhancing the transition of commencing students into university
- Enhancing the employability capabilities and confidence of students as they prepare to transition into new professional environments.
- Embedding and institutionalising good practice strategies for helping students

- » Engage with their learning
- » Engage with their profession
- » Access appropriate academic and professional support mechanisms
- » Acquire a sense of belonging including social integration into university and into their profession.

Conference key dates available from www.elt2008.qut.edu.au

This conference is particularly targeted to academic teaching staff from the three sponsoring universities, and the Queensland regional universities. Those interested in teaching and learning in higher education from administrative and support areas are also welcome to attend.

Call for contributions

Opens 21 April 2008

Deadline for all submissions 31 July 2008

www.etl2008.qut.edu.au

etl2008@qut.edu.au